REAR ADMIRAL
WILLIAM SWIFT

Submitted by Village of Richfield Springs Historian Harriett Geywits

“Military 250” is a national campaign to commemorate the milestones in American history while honoring the individuals and families who served and sacrificed during the formation and years of growth of our country. It is only appropriate that during this 250th anniversary of the forming of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, we honor one of the many servicemen who served in their ranks and was a member of the society of Richfield Springs.

Admiral William Swift called Richfield Springs home during the summer months, living at C. E. Goodale’s cottage on Church Street for about the last twenty years of his life. He had a deep love for the village and its people. As a summer resident, his presence gave a distinction to the resort. He was one of the organizers of the Richfield Springs Country Club and had much to do with its initial success, serving continuously as president. He was also a contributing member of the Business Men’s Association and the Library Association.

Admiral Swift was born in Windham, Connecticut on March 17, 1848, the son of William Swift. In 1872, he married Grace Virginia, the daughter of Commander and Mrs. George M. Ransom.

His military record was reported in the MERCURY in 1919 as follows: “ He was graduated from the United States Naval Academy with the class of 1867 and was a commissioned ensign in 1868, master in 1870, lieutenant in 1871, lieutenant commander in 1889, commander in 1897, captain in 1902 and rear admiral in 1908. He was placed on the retired list due to his age in 1910.

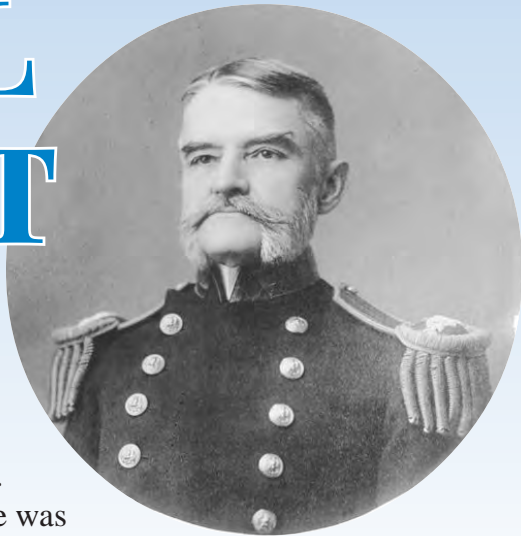

Admiral Swift made his midshipman’s cruise on the famous Constitution and as a young officer served on the old Kearsarge, the Colorado, and the flagship Susquehanna. From 1894-1897 he served as the first executive officer of the armored cruiser New York (now the Saratoga) on the European station at the time of the opening of the Kiel Canal. (The Kiel Canal is an important waterway in Northern Germany that connects the North Sea and the Baltic Sea.) He then served on the Indiana, commanded by Captain Evans.

Between 1900 and 1902, he was in command of the Prairie which took the US government’s exhibits to the Paris Exposition. His next commissions were on the Concord and Yorktown. During the last cruise, he acted for six months as Governor of Guam. In 1906 he commanded the USS Connecticut.

From 1886-1890, Admiral Swift was on ordnance duty at the Washington Naval Yard, performing valuable service in establishing there the first big gun plant in the country. For four years thereafter, he was in Philadelphia on leave of absence, serving as chief engineer of Bement & Miles Co. and consulting engineer of William Seller & Co.

During the Spanish American War, he was an ordnance officer at the New York yard and had, in addition, special duty in connection with the production and distribution of ordnance materials throughout the East. From 1902-1906, he was on duty in the Bureau of Ordnance and was a member of the General Board and Army and Navy Joint Board. He was commandant of the Boston Navy Yard from 1907-1909 and held the post of Aide for Material at the Navy Department in 1909-1910.

While at the Boston Navy Yard, he made a report on management of the yard which resulted in his appointment by Secretary Meyer to what became known as the Swift Board, which investigated and reported on the whole subject of the reorganization of the Navy Department. The recommendations of the board were approved and adopted for the departmental system of aide for operations, material, personnel and inspections, being a forerunner of the Office of Naval Operations which was later established in permanent form by Congress.

After his retirement in 1910, he continued for a number of months as advisor to Secretary Meyer on many industrial and yard affairs for the Navy.”

Richfield was always a popular summer resort for retired Army and Navy people. It was reported in 1910 that the village could boast of having five Navy Admirals visiting at one time.

Admiral Swift and family usually spent their winters in Philadelphia or in Newport, Rhode Island. On July 1, 1919, the Admiral died at the Naval Hospital in Newport after a long illness. The funeral was held at the Swift home on Church Street with the Reverend David C. Davies officiating, with burial at Lake View Cemetery where Mrs. Swift had been interred in 1906.

Houseplant Tip

It's important to watch houseplants closely.

According to gardenguides.com, an online gardening resource, you should inspect plants regularly for yellowing or discolored leaves. This condition is usually caused by overwatering, but can also be the result of insects. Deformed plants and sticky deposits on leaves and stems can be caused by insects as well.

Clean out your clutter by placing a Pennysaver Reader Ad.

Know Your Limits

Maybe you like the feel of the open road or maybe you're just in a hurry. But the fact remains, that speed limits are carefully set to give you the safest possible driving speed for each road's particular traffic conditions. And because speeding is dangerous, the penalties are stiff.

So whenever time is of the essence, start out early and obey your local speed signs. Then you can enjoy a safe and leisurely ride without having to worry about the fines.
