STOP AND REST AWHILE

Submitted by Village of Richfield Springs Historian Harriett Geywits

Before the extension of the Great Western Turnpike across the state to include a distance of 280 miles, regular freight lines were established. Huge covered wagons drawn by up to twelve horses carried cargo and news. A trip from Albany to Rochester took two weeks - they could pass 'free' over the toll roads since their broad six-inch wheels flattened out the ruts made by the narrow stages and regular wagon wheels. This was this trail that surplus farm products went to market as did droves of cattle, sheep, pigs, and other livestock driven to market in Albany. In return, supplies for the grocers, clothiers, etc., and quantities of horse shoe nails, rods and metals for all of the blacksmiths arrived via this route. Whether headed East or West, they all passed through Richfield and all stopped to rest themselves and their horses, swapping stories of their adventures.

Can you imagine that one of the most exciting sights of those days was the approach of these covered wagons, or later as people began to populate the area, the great stage coaches, horses galloping at full speed, loaded with passengers on the inside and luggage on the outside, operated on the Old Pioneer Line of Stages from Albany to Buffalo. The full journey is said to have taken six days.

Before 1810 one blacksmith and livery stable owner who must have waited patiently for the stage to bring him supplies was Mr. Graves. On his one acre of land, he established his business - the first shop in what was then called Canadarago Springs. In 1816, Nathan Dow, who had been with Ethan Allen at Ticonderoga, purchased the land in front of the livery stable and erected what was to be known as the Richfield Hotel. This was the first public house in the area. He annexed the older building where guests at the hotel could board and find care for their horses. The population of the area was growing as was the travel between points on the turnpike and people needed a place to stay, whether overnight or for a longer period.

Dow turned the business over to his son-in-law Robert Benedict who was proprietor for twenty years. The reputation of the hotel grew favorably as it was always known for its hospitality and 'setting a good table'. In 1821, the first summer boarders (about twenty-five) came and were welcomed at the hotel for $1.25 per week.

As the fame of the sulphur baths grew, so did the many hotels and boarding houses available to accommodate the summer visitors, but the Richfield Hotel was always among the favorites.

The history of the hotel shows that it changed ownership twenty-two times. Following is the list of owners and proprietors of the hotel following Robert Benedict's ownership of twenty years: 1836-1856 - J. Burgess, Wm. Lewis, J. Culbert, M. Jaques; 1856-1859 - Moses Wheeler (then known as the Wheeler Hotel); 1859-1864 - Charles Davy, Clark Heustis; 1864-1890 - Sandusky Keller (owner for 26 years); 1890-1898 - Starr S. Keller (son of Sandusky, owner for 8 years); 1898-1916 - George Baldwin, Luke Mattice; 1916-1920 - Willard Palmer; 1920-1923 - Robert Weston, Rocco Curcio, Frank H. Keller; 1923-1940 - J. Marshall, E. Hone, F. Crist, Fred Culbert; 1940-1945 - Willard C. Palmer (name changed to Palmer Hotel); 1945-1955 - Bernard Hanagan; 1955 - Harry W. Smith.

Aside from being a welcoming place to stay, the Richfield Hotel saw many changes over its long history. It was always a place to hold special holiday dinners and dances and a welcome spot to have local business meetings. In 1900 the Republican Caucus was held there.

In 1910, new rooms were added to the second floor, completed in time for the summer business. Other improvements included a double decker porch constructed on the east end along with the addition of dormer windows and improvement of the original entrance. Brick siding now covered the exterior giving the hotel a more modern appearance.

Simmons Brothers purchased the lot between their garage and to the back area of the Richfield Hotel lot in 1915 and built a large concrete, 80' x 105' addition to their garage.

The Village of Richfield Springs purchased the largest of the livery stables for $1000 in 1923 for use as equipment storage, saving rental costs of other areas. The next year it was reported that the hook and ladder truck was housed at the stables.

Also in 1923, the Rochester Body Company purchased three of the barn buildings to use as the place for the manufacture of truck bodies for automobile chases of any year. The plant in Rochester had been in business for a long time and needed to expand due to extensive business. Richfield was the spot chosen.

There were many businessmen including doctors and veterinarians who stayed at the hotel and offered their services to the public. It was a favorite stop for traveling salesmen. Others, such as James Mullen, who was a carriage and sign painter in 1898, made use of the quarters available over the stables.

The hotel which could provide accommodations for twenty visitors, was taken down in 1955. At that time, Smith's Garage (former Simmons's and now VMG Enterprises) stood on the lot occupied by the garden of the hotel and the car lot was on the ground covered by the former hotel. In 1967, the school district was authorized to purchase for the sum of $12,500, as an addition to the present school site, the section to the west of the car lot with an additional expenditure of $2,000 for removing the building (gas station), underground tanks and grading the premises. This now serves as part of the school parking lot.

All that is left to indicate the significance of this hotel is the marker, erected in 1938 by the New York Education Department, showing the existence of the oldest tavern in Richfield - a place where travelers and locals were welcomed for over 139 years.

Know Your Limits

Maybe you like the feel of the open road or maybe you're just in a hurry. But the fact remains, that speed limits are carefully set to give you the safest possible driving speed for each road's particular traffic conditions. And because speeding is dangerous, the penalties are stiff.

So whenever time is of the essence, start out early and obey your local speed signs. Then you can enjoy a safe and leisurely ride without having to worry about the fines.
